Mr. Lobay's only serious competitor was Mr. Elmer Plamondon of Plamondon who polled 52 votes against Mr. Lobay's 112. Attending the convention were 164 voting delegates, representing groups from all parts of the constituency, and about twice that number of visitors, so that the Memorial Hall was crowded to capacity. Hon. Lucien Maynard, Alberta's popular Attorney-General and one-time member for Beaver River riding, acted as chairman and one could quite truly say "A good time was had by all".

Dispute Value Of Lands In Vicinity Namao Airport

EDMONTON — Conflicting estimates on value of mineral rights on a quarter section of land adjacent to the Namao airport were given Tuesday by witnesses testifying in the Exchequer Court of Canada.

The case arises out of expropriation of the land in March, 1950, for the erection of residences and other buildings for the airport project. Mrs. Mary Pearse, widow from whom the land was expropriated, claims she is unable to develop her minerals rights and that she has not been compensated.

Two geologists gave evidence on the value of the mineral rights. One of them placed it at a minimum of $23,000, and the other at $9,000.

Ian Cook, Calgary consulting geologist, gave the higher figure. He said he considered his minimum estimated value of $23,000 "a fair and reasonable sum."

The quarter section formerly owned by Mrs. Pearse, is 1 1/8 miles from a well that produces 40 gallons a day from the Lower Cretaceous sands, Mr. Cook said.

Henry Kunst of Calgary, a geologist with Imperial Oil Ltd., testified on behalf of the government. He said the Pearse property would not be considered for drilling by his company.

He estimated the value of the mineral rights at $9,000, if a 100 per cent lease was included.

This is the second time the Pearse case has been before the Exchequer Court. It came to trial last October but was adjourned when counsel apparently reached a settlement.

Under the terms of the settlement, the Crown agreed to pay Mrs. Pearse $24,000 for the surface, and co-operate with her or the lessee of the mineral rights in the drilling of wells on the property. This settlement was rejected by department of transport officials, making necessary the special court sitting now in progress.

Find Missing Farmer's Body

EDMONTON — R.C.M.P. reported the body of 60 year-old Morinville farmer Mike Kozlowski, missing since Jan. 8, has been found in a clump of bushes near Fedora, 35 miles northeast of Edmonton. Police said there was no indication of foul play.

The body was found Friday by farmers of the Fedora district. The man's car was found a short distance from where the body lay beside a seldom travelled side road.

The man was not reported missing until a few days ago. His family told police they were under the impression he was away on a trip.

Frost-Boil Damage Held To 10 Miles

Highways Minister Taylor reported that not more than 10 miles of Alberta roads were damaged by frost boils this spring.

"But those 10 miles have held up traffic," he added, "and they are being repaired as soon as the frost boils dry out."

The minister completed an inspection tour through the coal branch west of Edmonton and south to Okotoks, Bentley and Innisfail. He said frost-boil damage this spring was more extensive than in the last several years. The damage was caused by unusually "wet" winter.

Wild Oats in '52

Despite new and efficient tillage machines and a variety of selective weed-killing chemicals, the Wild Oat continues to be the most expensive weed in Western Canada. The control of wild oats, however, is not a lost cause. This year, with Spring arriving much earlier than usual, presents farmers with a golden opportunity to destroy a large number of wild oats.

Established Facts. Research has established the following important facts with respect to the growth of wild oats. (1) At maturity, the wild oat seed has a strong dormancy. In other words, it must after-ripen before it will germinate. (2) The seed must be dried before its dormancy can be broken. (3) Wild oats germinate at low temperatures. It has been found that few seeds sprout at temperatures above 50°F.

Conditions this Spring have been ideal for drying and after-ripening wild oat seeds present on or near the surface of the soil. Consequently, many of these seeds, when buried by cultivation, will grow almost immediately. Most farmers, therefore, are likely to get a heavy growth of wild oats on infested fields this Spring.

Key to Control. The key to effective control lies in the fact that wild oat seeds grow well at low temperatures, and that few germinate after the soil temperature exceeds 50°F. In many districts of Western Canada a soil temperature of 50°F. will be reached very early this year. Consequently, farmers who cultivate their infested fields periodically until the soil warms up to this temperature will be able to kill a great many wild oats. On the basis of past field results, it is safe to predict that crops which are seeded after this time this Spring will be almost free of wild oats in 1952. Yes, indeed, this year looks like a good one in which to "catch up to" a lot of wild oats.

Detailed information on wild oat control is contained in our newly-revised circular called "Wild Oat Control by Cultural Methods." You can obtain a free copy of this bulletin from the local agent of the Line Elevator Companies listed above.

"In Memoriam"

"These flowers," said the hotel guest as he presented the bouquet to the manager, "are for the girls on your switchboard."

"Ah, how charming," replied the manager, "this is a compliment to our service, no doubt?"

"Compliment, nuts!" snapped the guest. "I thought they were dead!"

Who, Me? Nervous?

Lieutenant Bailey, youthful air force pilot, had just landed his fighter after a mission north of the Thirty-eighth Parallel and went into report to his commanding officer.

"Were you nervous during the attack?" inquired the C.O.

"Who? Me?" asked Bailey. "No sir, I was as cool as a cucumber through the whole show."

"Swell", replied the C.O. "I just thought you might have been a little jittery when you radioed that 15,000 enemy jets were coming at eight feet."

Smart Discovery

A visitor at the golf club teed up for the first hole, made a wild swing and completely missed the ball.

"It's a good thing I found out at the start," he said. "This course is at least two inches lower than the course I usually play."

Wrong Fire

Long Buckby, England.—Seeing flames coming from the chimney of Jack Goff's house, firemen decided to fight the fire from the roof. Goff's house happened to be one of a tightly packed row of similar structures. A fireman clambered up with a hose, stuck the nozzle down a chimney and cut loose. A loud scream burst from next door. A drenched occupant ran out. The fireman had put the hose down the wrong chimney.

The Trend In England

The Labor party continues to stage an apparent comeback in Great Britain, and the latest manifestation of this trend came in nation-wide local government elections. The returns from practically all of these boroughs in England-Wales, where voting was held earlier this month, gave Labor a gain of 568 town council seats and 15 lost. The Conservatives lost 406, gained 46. The Independents lost over 201 seats with comparatively few gains, and the Liberals also lost more seats than they gained.

These results are not necessarily indicative of true sentiments in England, but combined with the recent results in urban voting, they show an apparent trend toward the Labor party. Such a trend might make it very difficult for Churchill's government to remain in power another three years, as Churchill hopes to do.

Laborites, meanwhile, are now clamoring for another election this fall. Unless the tide is reversed, Labor will probably be able to force a new election within a year or eighteen months at most.

Danger In Water Sports

Summer brings vacation days, with most of the people of the nation spending more and more time in the out-of-doors. Unfortunately, some of these outings, which should bring pleasure and relaxation to everyone, result in tragedies that bring sorrow to happy families.

Many accidents are attributed to carelessness in the water. The surf attracts millions, with inevitable drownings, as venturesome individuals go out too far. Inland lakes, ponds and rivers likewise claim their victims, with non-swimmers occasionally getting into deep water with fatal consequences.

Accidents take a terrible toll of life in this country every year. It is well, therefore, to caution everybody about the dangers that lurke in water, known as well as unknown. Parents, who read this article, might permit it to remind them to give a warning to their children, with particular emphasis upon the need of caution in the water.

Decline of Wheat

The prairie provinces were scheduled to lose seven seats in the house of commons under regulations regarding provincial representation. The decline was due to the fact that the population increase in this area has not kept pace with the increase in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia.

Alberta will retain 17 seats, as this province's population has shown a substantial increase. Saskatchewan should drop from 20 to 15 seats, anl Manitoba from 16 to 14. However, special consideration was given Saskatchewan at the request of Prime Minister St. Laurent by reducing our sister province's representation by only 15 per cent or three members instead of five.

Commenting on how Canada's changing industrial scene is affecting politics, the Financial Post of Toronto recalls that in 1939 Kenneth W. Taylor, now associate deputy minister of finance, but then professor of political economy at McMaster University, prophesied this shift in political influence and warned that it might well tend to destroy the unifying influence of wheat on the Canadian scene.

He said: "The decline in the importance of wheat and the rapid increase in the importance of the new staples (celanese, etc.), Ontario and Quebec are beginning to lose interest in the prairies. They need the prairie markets and the prairie traffic less than before and the time may come in the not very distant future when the east may be inclined to write the prairies off as not worth troubling about."

How To Quit Smoking

Dr. Celolol McHugh, Professor of Psychology at Duke University, has the newest solution on how to stop smoking. About his new method, he says: "We set out to try for complete control over only a segment of the day, preferably at the begining. The over-user of tobacco sets aside a reasonable period at the start of the day and he does not smoke in that period of one hour, two hours, three hours, no matter how much he wants to.

"But the instant that time is passed, he may smoke as usual all the rest of the day." Dr. McHugh says this goal is not too difficult and that, by using this system smokers find that they can control their desire to smoke. Pretty soon, the Professor says, smokers begin to increase the non-smoking part of their day, and, eventually, come to the point where they can choose whether or not they want to.

"When they reach this point, the Professor believes, they have brought themselves to a psychological attitude which enables them to stop smoking altogether, if they so desire." The most interesting thing about Dr. McHugh's proposal is the fact that it comes from a Professor of Duke University —a school which was endowed by the late James Buchanan Duke, of tobacco industry fame.

Why Not Paint a Clear Picture?

(From the Camrose Canadian)

There is a group of people who are trying to confuse the rural electrification picture in Alberta. They are undoubtedly sincere in their desire to make the utility a publicly owned affair. They use comparisons between Alberta and Manitoba and between Alberta and Saskatchewan to entice the Alberta farmers under their wing. It is true that Manitoba builds the lines direct to the farm to be served and that there are 27,000 farms already electrified in Manitoba. It is also true that the Manitoba Power Commission owes the Provincial Government the sum of $35,000,000, with an addition of $10,000,000 under authorization and not yet expended. This part of the story is never mentioned from the public platform. And another thing, Manitoba has had a surplus of power since 1910 and has been in the rural electrification picture for twenty years. Likewise, the Saskatchewan Power Commission owes the Saskatchewan Provincial Government $41,000,000. This province has made no bones of its inability to construct free rural lines to farm premises. Saskatchewan is not so fortunately situated as either Manitoba or Alberta in the matter of power resources. She has few hydro potentials near to present centres of population. Should Alberta decide to make power a publicly owned utility at the present time, the Province would be required to assume an additional bonded indebtedness of $100,000,000. As far as rates go at the present time, Alberta customers enjoy rates as low as Manitoba and lower than Saskatchewan and are not carrying any of the bonded indebtedness as an indirect charge against the utility. Another interesting feature of the argument is that Manitoba's 27,000 rural installations are confined within a geographical area of less than one-third the area in Alberta from the Edmonton district south to the international border, eliminating the Peace River area entirely.

When It's May!

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

Lucky is the man whose wife understands perfectly why he wants to go fishing, and, with a cheerful smile, waves him goodbye and wishes him good luck.

For some reason, such a woman is the exception rather than the rule.

There is something in the psychology of the human male — perhaps a throwback trait to his remote ancestors—that impels him to hike into the woods in May and catch some fish before his neighbors go out and catch them all.

There is also something in the psychology of the feminine sex—perhaps a more practical and realistic attitude—that causes a wife to regard the whole excursion as an unproductive waste of time.

Voice of the People

GOING STRONG

Anyone who says the Liberals are losing out don't know what they're talking about.

In its latest analyses of voting attitudes, the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion reported a two point gain for the Liberal party.

The question asked of voting-age Canadians was this: "If a federal election were held today, would you favor the candidate of the P.C., Liberal, C.C.F., or other party?"

The answers given by Canadians from coast-to-coast showed that 48% preferred the Liberal party, a 2 point gain from the previous poll taken in February 1952; the Tories dropped to 32% (from 33% in Feb.) and the C.C.F. remained unchanged at 13%.

There was no mention of Social Credit, so I guess that party isn't even as important as the C.C.F. with only 13% of the Canadian people in favor of them.

Edmonton. GRIT.

"THANX" FROM RED CROSS

The Red Cross 1952 appeal has already reached more than 80 per cent of its objective—a decided increase over the same period last year—and we have every hope of reaching our goal by the end of the year.

You will have had a great deal to do with writing this happy ending and I want to express the gratitude of the Society for your ever-generous cooperation and assistance to us.

Without the support of the weekly press, not only at campaign time but the year 'round, it would be impossible for Red Cross to continue its work, and this fact is recognized by Central Council, the highest governing body, which this year again passed a unanimous resolution thanking the weekly press for its "valued support of our Society."

Once again I have the pleasure of saying "Thanks!"

Alberta's 430 Junior Farm and Home Clubs with their 6,600 members are looking forward to a full schedule of activities this summer. Achievement days in clothing and foods clubs are presently being held. During the last week in May and the first two weeks in June the 99 beef feeding clubs in the province will be holding their annual shows and sales. Among other outstanding club events which will be carried on throughout the summer are:

Junior club weeks at Vermilion Olds and Farivew School of Agriculture during the weeks of July 7, 14, and 21 respectively. To these short courses will be invited the efficiency winner from each club in the province. This is a reward trip, all expenses being paid for the fortunate winner from a club.

4-H VISITING

Some 250 4-H Club members, leaders and parents from Montana plan to visit the Lethbridge, Cardston and Waterton areas of southern Alberta on July 8, 9 and 10. This group will be entertained during their three-day stay by Alberta club members.

Provincial judging competitions at Olds School of Agriculture July 28, 29 and 30. At this time teams will be selected to represent Alberta at National Club Week in Toronto.

DAIRY FIELD DAYS PLANNED

Tentative dates have been set for a number of dairy field days throughout Alberta during the latter part of June and early July. In many cases the field day will coincide with junior dairy calf club achievement days.

Talks on pasture and hay crops, diseases affecting dairy cattle and the place of dairying in Alberta agriculture, will be given by the department of agriculture officials. At every field day a demonstration on dairy type followed by a judging competition will create considerable interest.

The Alberta Dairymen's Association, producers and cattle breeders sections, have agreed to supply prizes for these competitions at six of the field days.

A cream and milk quality competition is being arranged just in advance of some of the field days by the local dairy plant. The results will be discussed and the prizes presented at the field days. Those points where definite dates have been set include:

Millet (Porto Bello), June 17; Grand Centre, June 21; Bentley, June 30; Lethbridge, July 5.

Tentative dates have been set at the following points:

Leduc (Rolly View), June 16; Ponoka, June 18; Bruderheim, June 19; St. Paul, June 20; Ryley, June 25; High Prairie, June 27; Olds, July 3.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I have a great problem on my hands. I have a daughter who has a small child between two and three years old. I have had to take care of the child most of the time. The mother is sick lots and I have to care for them both.

They have plenty and they could hire help, but they think it is my place to care for them. The husband will not help in any way and he doesn't think his people should help. I have chances to go some but they don't want me to go.

I am a widow and I have more children I could live with but they think my place is to slave for them. I am getting old and it is a hard job. Please give me your opinion.

A WORRIED MOTHER.

Answer:

Your children should be ashamed of themselves for such an attitude. While all mothers like to help their children when they need it, it is unexcusable for them to feel that their mother, who has already reared a family, should take over their responsibilities.

You have evidently taught your children to be selfish and inconsiderate of you or your husband may have been to blame. When children grow up and are not taught to help their mother or consider her feelings, they become the "gimme" type and expect to be on the receiving end of things for the rest of their lives. These children's idea of a good mother is for her to be a glorified servant.

I fear it is too late for you to do much with such a group as you seem to have reared but, if I were you, I would try to get a job of some kind and live in a boarding house or two rooms of my own. Then perhaps your son-in-law would be eager to hire help and get you to come back on a different basis to supervise his household. Independence makes a lot of difference in the way people look at situations.

LOUISA.

An elderly couple asked me if I would make them some bread. So that I did. The man took the bread home that night. I kept a loaf myself and when I tasted it my heart fell to my shoes as it tased of Izol powder. A hen had got into the shed where we had our flour and knocked a package of Izol powder down on the flour and it went through the whole sack. This couple had their daughter with them who is a nurse. Was my face ever red, and I sure was embarrassed to have to face them all the next morning!

Couple Will Honeymoon in Mexico

EDMONTON — Patricia Doreen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bizak, Imperial Mills, became the bride of Walter Gordichuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Gordichuk of Lac la Biche. They were married in the Greek Orthodox church which was decorated with mixed flowers, in Edmonton, on May 10 at 3:30 p.m. Rev. Mr. Chrustawka officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a French over-lace over satin, floor-length gown with lily point sleeves. She was attended by Mrs. Dorothy Lupul as matron of honor, who wore a gown of green, and as bridesmaids, Lillian Uygern, Olga Facenko and Victoria Galyzyn, all in blue.

Ellen Bizak, sister of the bride, wearing a floor-length gown of white, was flower girl and Allen Gordichuk, brother of the groom, was page boy.

The groom was attended by Mack Gordichuk, Bob Lupul, Elmer Frazer and Mike Wygera.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Ukrainian M. H. hall. The bride's table was centred with a four-tiered wedding cake and decorated with tulips, roses and carnations. The guests were received by Mr. William Tomyn.

The couple will leave on June 2 for a month's honeymoon in Mexico. Following their return they will be at home in Lac la Biche to their many friends.

Mr. Gordichuk is a shareholder in the Lac la Biche hotel and his bride attended high school at Lac la Biche.

On May 16 the couple was honored at a dance and lunch at which time they received many lovely gifts.

LOBAY UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF SOCIAL CREDIT CONVENTION

ernment, through a system of grants and equalization, contributes forty cents from general revenue and even, in some special cases, sixty cents for every forty cents of taxation.

Mr. Jorgenson told of the rise to popularity in B.C. of Social Credit ideas and the benefits accruing from the Social Credit pay-as-you-go policy. He laid particular stress on two facts, first, that in 1935 when Social Credit came to power in Alberta the province was technically bankrupt and yet powerful financial interests warned this new government that its theories would drive capital out of the province. Yet they went ahead along the lines of those theories and instead of capital running away, more and more outside capital came into the province till, under policies based on Social Credit theories, $96,500,000 of new capital came into the province in the year 1951 alone, a staggering total compared with pre-Social Credit era figures. And by no means all of this money is going into oil. Solid millons of it are being invested in other industries which are being attracted to Alberta by the very policies once criticised.

Hon. Mr. Maynard then took over. He dealt with the difficulties deliberately thrown in the path of the Social Credit government to prevent the full implementation of the 1935 election promises. Legislation to bring those promises into effect was disallowed at Ottawa and appeal to the Privy Council resulted in the rendering of a decision that only the Dominion Government could enact such legislation. Continuously since that time, said Mr. Maynard, the Alberta Government has pleaded with the Government at Ottawa to put such legislation into effect and especially to finance the war by using the credit of the people to back Bank of Canada issued money instead of selling interest-bearing bonds that would, and unfortunately also did, plunge the country into a hopeless morass of debt.

He further pointed out that the Social Credit Government that took over a bankrupt province in 1935 now has a reserved fund of $72,000,000, and this fund was the source that enabled the Alberta Government to grant loans to Municipalities for self-liquidating projects at the low rate of 2 per cent. Were it not for this the Municipalities would be forced to borrow abroad and pay interest outside Canada.

"Let us keep this money for the benefit of the people, he pleaded.

The meeting then concluded with the singing of "God Save the Queen".
